

Deed of Partnership and Twinning

Association of Public Health
Inspectors, Cyprus

Royal Environmental Health
Institute of Scotland

The Association of Public Health Inspectors, Cyprus and the Royal Environmental Health Institute of Scotland have agreed to enter into a formal partnership and twinning arrangement in accordance with which both organisations resolve to establish and to maintain a close working relationship.

We, the undersigned, today commit our respective organisations to work closely together and, in particular, we aim:-

- To promote the exchange of professional experience and expertise
- To compare and exchange systems of management, good practice and information
- To develop study tours and exchange visits on subject areas relevant to the work of public and environmental health professionals
- To work together to improve standards of health within the European Union
- To work together with other members of the International Federation of Environmental Health.

We sign this document in the hope that both organisations will make a positive contribution to the improvement of public and environmental health within our two countries.

Signed in Nicosia, Cyprus on this 24th day of February, 2006
